LODGE FINDS HARD GOING FOR PACTS IN SENATE

Admits Treaties Call Only For "Consultation"

REED ATTACKS

Missourian Brands Agreements "Farcical"

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, March 9.—Asked in the Senate why Sakhalin and other Islands were specified in supplementary treaty, Senator Lodge replied that it was a direct way to exclude Japan. Senator Reed asked if the delegates had considered that Sakhalin had valuable oil deposits, which might be used if Russia sought to oust Japan. Senator Lodge replied that as far as he knew, there had been no consideration of this question.

Replying to Senator Pomerene, Senator Lodge said he did not know whether the tentative drafts of the Pacific Treaty had been preserved. When Senator Lodge stated that no understanding could be reached under the Treaty except by the consent of all the signatories, Senator Reed asked whether there would be any objection to a reservation, saying plainly that the decisions must be unanimous. Senator Lodge replied that he did not think a reservation was necessary, but that he had agreed with the Foreign Relations Committee's reservation, for which he had voted.

He further stated that the Treaty would not bind the United States to take action, beyond engaging in consultation in the event of a controversy.

Senator Reed replied, that if what Senator Lodge said was true, the Treaty was a farce, accomplishing nothing more than the agreements now in force.

Former President Wilson Directing Fight On Treaties

(China Press Service)

Washington, March 9.—That former President Wilson is back of the opposition to the Four Power Treaty now is deemed to be without question since the opposition has been crystallised in the persons of several of his closest friends. Their action, independent of advice on the part of the ex-president, is not considered probable, and while Senator Borah will continue to pose as the leader of the fight, the real motive power behind it is undoubtedly Mr. Wilson, political leaders of both parties say.

It is now learned that a definite plan has been formulated after long conversations between Senator Borah and friends of the ex-president, including Bernard Baruch and former Under Secretary of State Davis. Although Borah did not confer viva voce with Mr. Wilson, the Senator's friends say he has long been carrying on a correspondence with Mr. Wilson and that the animus directing the fight on the treaty comes directly from the former chief executive.

Through this correspondence, it is stated, the Democratic opponents of the treaty have been brought into line to coincide with the ideas of the ex-president as to the manner on which it must be fought.

New York, March 9.—Four national religious organisations representing the Protestants, Catholics and Jews of America, comprising the Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Central Conference, the American Rabbis United Synagogue and the National Catholic Welfare Council, launched a concerted movement to obtain the Senate's immediate ratification of the Conference treaties without reservations.

Brokers Accused Of Juggling Funds

(Reuter's Service)

New York, March 9.—In the course of the official enquiry into the failure of Messrs. Childs Joseph, the New York firm of exporters and importers, counsel for the receiver declared that the two principals had each withdrawn 650,000 dollars during the eighteen months preceding the failure, although the firm's books showed that it was insolvent when the withdrawals were made.

Joffre—When Veterans Meet

By

Captain Bruce Hopper

(This editorial, by Captain Hopper, of the STAR staff, is reprinted from yesterday's EVENING STAR.)

WHY NOT PERPETUATE the inspiration of Marshal Joffre's visit by creating a permanent society of Allied War Veterans in Shanghai?

At the Cercle Sportif Francais last night the war veterans of the Allied nations dined with Joffre. The men who gathered there have returned from the colors to the ways of peace. But they have soldiers' memories.

Nothing delights an old soldier so much as the sight of an old and tried commander, who went through the thick of it, and carried the day. But to Joffre the attachment is even more personal, for he was a considerate military father to every poilu. The reunion between veterans and the old chief thus calls out the feelings which lie deep in the memory of other days.

The winning personality of Joffre has made him one of the greatest unifying influences of the Allied cause. All ex-soldiers with him tonight know that. They also know the spirit which made the war at all bearable—the fraternity of the trenches.

No greater honor could be paid a man like Joffre than to associate him with the birth of a society to strengthen old ties of the war, and renew the fraternal strands of a bond which is only slightly frayed. Only such significant moral tribute would be fully worthy of the great Joffre. And the grand old poilu would be pleased, for he too knows the fraternity of the trenches, the abris, and the air.

Let such an Allied War Veteran society be formed, based upon a union of the British United Services, the Anciens Combattants Francais, the American Legion, the Italian war services, and the Belgian veteran's organisation. Let the illustrious name of Joffre be first on the roll. And let Shanghai, the crossroads of the nations, prove that friendships of the war are abiding in the peace.

THERE are those who would have us forget the war. They tell us, with convincing argument, that the business now is making the peace permanent. They are right to a point. But remembering the war is one way of winning the peace. That way is to prevent a rift opening between the Allies. For victors to fall out over the spoils is to lose the peace.

The drift of Europe since the Armistice has shown one thing clearly—that peace is contingent upon Allied solidarity, both of governments and peoples. There must be less of national ego, and more of the common cause. Which does not mean unity to impose harsher terms upon our ex-enemies, but that unity of purpose won the war, and unity of purpose alone will win the peace.

Thus a society of Allied War Veterans would not exist to keep alive the fighting spirit, nor preserve feelings of bitterness against the peoples of the defeated powers. Men who went through the great fight have been tested by the same kind of fire. In an international city like Shanghai they should have a common meeting ground. There should be annual dinners, after the manner of the British units. There might even be a profitable affiliation with the S. V. C., of which the city is justly proud. This gathering last night under the influence of the great Joffre, should be but the first of its kind.

THERE are many reasons to urge such intimate rapprochment among war veterans. The first is personal. To most men the war was the great adventure. Many we knew went to that great adventure, but were called to join the long list of the forever neutral. They move in the past of glorious things, which the coming of Joffre lights up like a star shell along the sky line. They would not have us forget.

The Armistice released us from the state of hostage to the fortune of high explosive and poison gas. That night the world took on a different color. That night there was shouting in the dug-outs, for there was to be no more of the sickening filth of the trenches, nor patroling in the mud.

Some of the veterans with Marshal Joffre tonight know the feel of caissons rolling into action, and the gripping business of unlimbering the guns under fire. Others marched up in the rain and slop, with soggy packs, and soggy rations.

Still others know the cloud pockets where the Fokker hid, and the Pfaltz maneuvered between the sun and its prey. There were days of trench strafing, of dodging archie fire, of dog fights with Richtofen's Circus, and often the sight of flying pals going down in flames, but waving a last goodbye.

IN these days of readjustment to peace, the heart of every soldier from the Western Front goes back to the white roads of France. He sees tangled lines of barbed wire, and shell holes aflame with poppies, all the way from Flanders to the Vosges. He gets the blue cafard, and would give much to go back for another billet in the leave area. There are no military police now, no ducking for the abris. And the mademoiselles are just as sweet as when they said: "Que voulez vous, M'sieur, c'est la guerre!"

Every ray of memory from the war is an argument for renewed intimacy among the veterans. Settling down to peace, and the pursuit of livelihood, caused a seeming indifference to the old ties. But the coming of Joffre revives the urgency of war attachments.

War veterans who dined with Joffre last night feel this need for more definite ties. A resolution to effect a union, which should by right include veterans from the Russian army, would be the most forceful tribute war veterans anywhere could offer the Hero of the Marne.

Shanghai of all cities should think internationally. And that kind of thinking is the only cure for most of the post-war distress.

Frs. 100,000 Given To Joffre For France By French Residents Here

Marshal Greeted At Municipal Building At Official Reception; Reviews Troops Today; Sails Tomorrow

When Marshal Joffre sails for America tomorrow on the steamer Silver State following the crowded three days of affairs of every kind in his honor he will take with him a gift of 100,000 francs, presented yesterday at the public reception in the French Municipal buildings by the French residents of Shanghai. This offering is to be used for the reclamation of one of the devastated villages in France, to be designated by Marshal Joffre. The presentation was made in the course of the address that was given by M. de la Parade, Chairman of the French Municipal Council, who also is a French Consul.

Marshal Joffre today will inspect Shanghai's volunteer defense force, the Shanghai Volunteer Corps. This will take place in the noon hour on The Bund and will be one of the important events of the visit to Shanghai of the French Marshal.

Preceding this inspection of the Volunteer Corps Marshal Joffre will pay a visit to Siccawei where he will be the guest of the Jesuit fathers. On his return from Siccawei fifteen members of the Municipal Police Reserve, all former officers in the war, will meet his car at the junction of the Bund and Avenue Edward VII and form an escort to the place where the inspection of the S.V.C. will take place.

Following the inspection of the Volunteer Corps Marshal Joffre will be the guest of the Municipal Council of the International Settlement at tiffin. This will be the last of the program of events for the distinguished visitor who will depart for America tomorrow. A special launch is being provided for his party of ten persons and this is to leave the Customs Jetty about 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

One of the outstanding details of Marshal Joffre's visit to Shanghai was the dinner that was given in his honor last night at the French Club by veterans of the world war. Mr. P. S. Bris presided and after paying an eloquent tribute to the guest of honor Marshal Joffre responded. Others who spoke were M. Wilden, French Consul-General, Col. R. Marr Johnson, Commandant of the S. V. C., Mr. Van der Stegan, Col. du Cimitiere and Capt. W. I Eisler.

IMMENSE THRONG

An immense throng attended the formal public reception for Marshal Joffre that was held yesterday afternoon in the French Municipal buildings. The address that was delivered by the Chairman of the French Municipal Council was as follows:

In the name of the Municipal Administration of the French Concession of Shanghai, which is exceedingly proud to have you for its honored guest, I have the honor of assuring you of our cordial welcome.

It is with a quasi-religious emotion that I address you who is to us not only the victor of the Marne but one who has been destined to serve France in her dark and tragic hours. It was through you, Mr. Marshal, that the torch of France has been preserved unextinguished in connection with the battles fought at Catalaunique, Poitiers, Bouvines, Rouen, Rocroy, Denain and Valmy. Should this torch unfortunately have been extinguished, then in the words of a Canadian poet, it would mean darkness throughout the world.

When the hour came at which you dispersed the darkness of this alarming night and at which there arose a sun whose rays are more brilliant than those of Austerlitz, we who were, as it were, exiled from home and who were exceedingly sorry at not having been able to rush to the front in order to participate in the war, hungry for news as a starving man is hungry for bread, waited and waited until one Sunday afternoon in the month of September when I was rung up on the telephone by my chief, who just said: "Come quick, come quick," and that was all. I ran and when I saw my chief, I found his eyes wet with tears. He handed me this telegram which I read tremblingly and it was worded as follows:

Telegram from the Legation.
September 13, 1914.
French Ambassador in Russia Telegraphs French Victory on all Fronts. CONTY.

Without uttering a word we sobbed and shook hands. Happily and with haste we spread this news in the city of Shanghai because there was at that time placed in circulation by a German source, a certain source, the rumor that Saint Denis had been occupied by the enemy.

Now this little telegram which contains a resume of your immense achievement was signed "Conty" or "Paleologue," and the sender, we well know, was no one but yourself, Mr. Marshal. Permit me then, now that you are here, to express to you the infinite gratitude of us who in our state of exile, while undergoing the most horrible agony of life, were all of a sudden enabled to experience through your gracious act which we appreciate the most profound rejoicings which human beings could possibly enjoy.

The French Concession of Shanghai in 1915 had decided to assure you of its respectful testimony of gratitude by naming after you an avenue that is the longest as well as the most beautiful.

Marshal Joffre's second day in Shanghai was fully taken up with scheduled activities that began at 11:30 in the morning with a large reception at the Cercle Sportif Francais. All club members, with their friends, attended the reception and were presented to the Marshal and Madame Joffre and their daughter.

After the reception the Marshal left the French Club and motored to the Bureau of Foreign Affairs on Bubbling Well Road, where a tiffin was given in his honor by Chinese officials. Chinese notables, consular and high military and naval officials, prominent French residents and their invited guests, attended the tiffin which was wholly Chinese. Speeches of welcome to the Marshal were made by Chinese officials.

GUARD OF HONOR OUT

When the Marshal arrived at the Bureau of Foreign Affairs for tiffin, he was preceded by a detachment of soldiers which had been sent by the Defense Commissioner as a guard of honor. The Band of the Defense Commissioner, assembled outside to greet the Marshal's party, followed him into the tiffin and played.

Just preceding the tiffin the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs read the message of welcome which had been sent through him to the Marshal from the Tuchun and Civil Governor of Kiangsu.

Mr. Hsu Yuen delivered the following address of welcome in Chinese:

"Having learned of your journey to Shanghai, we have gathered together to ask you to be our honored guest in order to testify to you our great esteem and to assure you how deeply we appreciate the honor you have conferred upon us in accepting the invitation to our reception of welcome.

"Mr. Marshal, we are well aware of the fact that you have occupied for a long period a position at the pinnacle of military glory in France. We also know that your surpassing valor has won for you the highest respect of all your compatriots, who look upon you as an exceptional hero with a record that finds no precedent and that will have no equal. This is why the whole world is united in greeting you, with the most cordial veneration, now that your great name and your glorious achievements have been made known from pole to pole.

STIRRED NATION'S HEART

"Mr. Marshal, your great experience in military affairs and your amiability have stirred the hearts not only of the officers and men

Johannesburg, March 9.—The Government, determined to end the present situation, has mobilised the Imperial Light Horse, the Transvaal Scottish, the Railway and Harbor Rifles and the Pretoria Regiment to reinforce the police, and has warned the public that aeroplanes will use machine guns.

Sections of the strikers have been chasing and shooting natives over a wide area, but in one instance a portion of a commando encountered a band of natives armed with assegai and knobkerris and fled, eventually securing police protection.

(China Press Service)

Johannesburg, March 9.—The South African government is determined to end the disorders growing out of the gold miners' strike. It has mobilised the artillery, cavalry and other units to reinforce the police. It was said that airplanes would be used if necessary.

(Reuter's Service)

Johannesburg, March 9.—A serious feature of the situation is the attacks by strikers on the natives. Up to the present six natives have been killed and nineteen wounded.

Two of the mines which closed down owing to the exhaustion of the staffs and which workers were guarding against night attacks by strikers, have reopened.

The exposition will close on July 31.

U. S. DECISION ON GENOA FATAL TO CONFERENCE, VIEW

Paris Newspapers Believe Parley Will Fizzle Out

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, March 10.—The newspapers anticipate the failure of the Genoa conference of America's refusal to participate.

The Temps declares that the Genoa enterprise is bankrupt and should be replaced immediately by another and better conceived plan.

The Gaulois expresses the opinion that without America at the conference, it will be simply a meeting of insolvent debtors.

The Information says that it will be a long time before Europe will be able to settle its debts with America. If, instead of hoarding gold, America brought a realisable plan to Genoa, she might be paid sooner.

New York, March 10.—Some of the New York papers are disappointed at America's refusal to take part in the Genoa conference.

The World says that the Genoa conference is the broadest possible evidence of Europe's sincere effort to pull itself together, but when it turns to America for advice it gets kicks in response.

ONE MAN KILLED, ANOTHER HURT BY ARMED THIEF

One man was shot dead and another was wounded in an affray consequent upon highway robbery near the corner of Chekiang and Peking Roads at about 7 o'clock last evening.

Few details were available up to a late hour last night but from information available it appears that a Chinese snatched a bag from another, who resisted, whereupon the thief drew a pistol and fired three times. The victim of the robbery was killed and a second bullet struck a passerby. The latter is expected to recover. The assassin escaped.

GHANDI IS TO BE ARRESTED TODAY; CRISIS NEAR IN INDIA

Government Decides To Take Drastic Action

UNREST SEETHES

Delhi Assembly Defeats Move To Free Agitators

(Reuter's Service)

Delhi, March 10.—The Government has decided to arrest Mr. Gandhi today.

Delhi, March 9.—Lord Rawlingson's statement on the condition of India was confirmed today by Sir William Vincent, the Home Member, in the course of opposing a motion in the Legislative Assembly in favor of the release of the Ali brothers and other political agitators as an act of clemency.

Sir William Vincent damningly indicted the Ali brothers for treasonable activities before, during and since the war, and declared that the country was seething with the spirit of lawlessness. He asserted that the times were exceedingly critical in India.

The motion was overwhelmingly defeated.

London, March 10.—Mr. Montagu's resignation is the topic of the moment. Photographs of him and details of his career are given prominence in the papers, which feature yesterday's parliamentary debates and correspondence under large headings.

DUE TO BLUNDER

The morning papers practically without exception agree that Mr. Montagu's resignation was the inevitable outcome of his action concerning the publication of the Government of India's minute, which is generally regarded as a cardinal blunder.

The Conservative papers frankly express relief and do not hesitate to couple the name of the Viceroy with that of the Indian Secretary. They suggest that the whole affair constituted an audacious attempt to jockey the British Government into a new policy without its knowledge or consent.

The Liberal papers, on the other hand, regret the loss of an excellent Secretary of State, though they freely admit that his resignation was the natural corollary to mistaken tactics.

General anxiety is expressed by papers of all shades of opinion lest the incident should be misunderstood in India and serve to increase the difficulties which are already very serious.

The Duke of Devonshire is mentioned as Mr. Montagu's successor.

London, March 9.—In the House of Commons today Mr. Aubrey Herbert asked whether the Imperial or the Indian Government had approved the publication of the latter's dispatch specifying the modification in the Treaty of Sevres.

MONTAGU'S TELEGRAM

Mr. Austen Chamberlain replied that the telegram from Delhi was published by the Indian Government with the sanction of Mr. Montagu and that no other Minister had been consulted.

Mr. Chamberlain abstained from commenting on the matter of the telegram. He said, however, that it exceeded even the demands of the warmest friends of the Turks and that the publication of such a pronouncement, without consultation with or the consent of the cabinet, raised a different and a more important question because it came on the eve of the Paris conference when there seemed to be a prospect of laying down a basis of peace between the Turks and the Greeks.

The Government was unable to reconcile the publication of the telegram and the sole responsibility of Mr. Montagu with the collective responsibility of the cabinet or with the duty all the Governments of the Empire owed to each other in matters of Imperial concern.

Mr. Chamberlain went on to say that such independent declarations destroyed the unity of policy so vital in foreign affairs and gravely imperilled the success of the impending negotiations.

OFFERS TO RESIGN

Mr. Montagu, Mr. Chamberlain said, had tendered his resignation (Loud and prolonged cheers) and the King had approved its acceptance, when however, the Foreign Minister proceeded to Paris to discuss the Eastern settlement with the Foreign Ministers of France and Italy, it would be his object to give due weight to the opinion of the Indian Mohammedans as expressed by the Government of India, but he could not hold himself down to accept any solution submitted.

London, March 9.—A short debate in the House of Commons on Mr. Montagu's resignation elucidated the fact that the India Government's despatch had been published in India and cabled to London by Reuter.

—Mr. Chamberlain remarked that he first learned of it from the morning papers. He said that the Indian Government had asked permission of Mr. Montagu to publish the dispatch, and his sanction of its publication, without consulting his colleagues, had led to his resignation.

London, March 9.—The unprecedented action of the Indian Government in publicly formulating a policy for the Imperial Government, as cabled yesterday, has startled London, as a breach of all constitutional tradition. All the newspapers comment on it.

TWO OPINIONS

Two groups of opinion are noticeable. The Times and the Daily Mail, which republish Lord Northcliffe's interview regarding India, point out that his warning was justified. The Times says that the views of the Indian Government must receive the fullest consideration at the forthcoming Near Eastern conference in Paris and that the publicity officially given goes far to commit the British Government to their support.

The Daily Mail says that even if the demand should involve the withdrawal of the British garrison from Constantinople, much is to be said for such a policy.

The Daily News is of the opinion that a prudent modification of the Treaty of Sevres is undoubtedly an essential preliminary to the restoration of the confidence of the Indian people, and asks whether some members of the Government are prepared to support Lord Reading's liberal and wise policy or whether they will allow the fast developing crisis to pass into the charge of the military.

The Westminster Gazette, while declaring that the settlement with Turkey must be upheld in the territories the Sultan lost, says it is impossible to defend the attack on Asia Minor by the Greeks. This false step by the Allies, the paper declares, must be retraced.

MUST REVERSE POLICY

The Daily Express declares that the whole of our policy in Asia Minor must be reversed, if it is not too late.

The Daily Herald asserts that the Treaty of Sevres must be scrapped and a really national conference of Indians convoked, with perhaps representatives of the British and Dominions parliaments, with a view to granting genuine self-government.

The Morning Post says that the request is a plain hint that the Indian unrest must be allayed by changes in the Imperial policy elsewhere. If such an attitude continues, the paper adds, the British Empire will not last very long.

The Daily Chronicle says: "As the trustees, not merely of India, but of south-eastern Europe and the Christian populations of the Near East, in addition to our international engagements, we cannot accept the suggestions of the Indian Government as they stand. India must not aspire to rights greater than those enjoyed by any Dominion."

The Daily Telegraph refers to the request as a remarkable document, almost pro-Turkish in its eagerness to allay the growing alienation of the Mohammedan minority. The paper challenges the Imperial Government's entire policy in the Near and Middle East, which, it asserts, was settled in conjunction with Paris and Rome.

The document, it adds, does not inspire confidence in the wisdom and firmness of the Reading administration, which has already unsuccessfully tried to overcome disaffection by sectional concessions.

who served under you but of the French people as a whole.

"Mr. Marshal, it is very good of you to give us the privilege of meeting you and making your acquaintance at this welcome reception. The friendly relations between France and China are perfectly consolidated, but it is our hope that the people of these two countries will cherish these friendly ties more dearly than ever, and that by means of Franco-Chinese co-operation our commerce and industries will be made as prosperous as yours.

"In the name of our central government, we beg you to be good enough to accept the assurance of our most profound respects. Now we raise our cups to your own health and the prosperity of the two republics.

"Long live France! Long live China!"

Marshal Joffre replied in simple but moving language, expressing his gratitude for the welcome and dwelling on the amity existing between France and China, the depth and sincerity of their friendship and his hopes for a permanent continuance of it and for success in commerce and industry.

Commissioner Hsu's address was interpreted into French by Mr. Tan of the Foreign Bureau, while Marshal Joffre's reply was given in Chinese by Mr. Tsang of the French Consulate-General.

On account of his indisposition, General Ho Feng-ling, the Defense Commissioner, was obliged to leave the tiffin before the speech-making commenced.

Mr. C. C. Nieh, chairman of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, spoke on behalf of the Chinese commercial interests in Shanghai. His speech was interpreted by Mr. Loh Peh-hung of the Nantao Tramway Company. Mr. Francis Zia, representing Wang Han-chi of the Chinese daily, Sin Wan Pao, spoke on Franco-Chinese co-operation.

Among the guests at the tiffin were: Major Mallein, M. E. Fauraz, Commander Constantin, M. Mailly, M. Tulasne, M. Madier, M. Fredet, M. Ardain, M. Laurent, M. Fano, Dr. Fresson, M. Flambert, M. Vallet, Rev. Pere Henry, Rev. Pere Beauce, M. H. A. Wilden, the Consul-General, M. G. D. de la Prade, M. Auge, M. Boissezon, M. Grosbois, M. Maybon, M. Moynard, M. Lafargue, M. Durang, Mr. C. C. Nieh, Mr. K. P. Chen, Mr. F. C. Tong, Mr. Fu Siao-an, Mr. Yao Moh-lien, Mr. Li Yin-shih, Mr. Edward Sheng, Mr. Y. D. Shen, Mr. Chu Pao-shan, Magistrates Shen Pao-chang and Kwan Chun, Mr. Y. M. Chien, Mr. Jabin Hsu, Vice-Admiral Ho Ping-chang, Mr. Loh Peh-hung Mr. Francis Zia, Mr. Y. S. Ziar, Judge T. S. K. Loh, Mr. Nicholas Tsu, Mr. S. K. Chen.

From the tiffin the Marshal and his suite proceeded to the French park, where, within a flag decorated square the French general planted a Liberty tree.

This living memento of the historic visit of the General to Shanghai will serve to bind the two great races, one of the East, the other of the West, together, just as the oak which Pershing planted in Paris on the occasion of his recent visit there is a symbol of the existing Franco-American amity, and a pledge of its continuance.

LAYS SCHOOL CORNERSTONE

From the park the large gathering followed the Marshal to the Franco-Chinese Municipal School, where Joffre laid the cornerstone of the annex. Students of French schools and of Chinese schools throughout Shanghai attended this ceremony.

An enormous crowd was present at the formal public reception to the Marshal, which was held in the French Muncipal Building at 4:30. The Marshal signed the minutes of the council meeting and shook hands with the hundreds present who came to meet him.

Today, at 10:30, the Marshal will visit Siccawei, the splendid institution under the supervision of French Jesuits. On his return, fifteen members of the Shanghai Municipal Police Reserve, all ex-officers of the Great War, will meet his car at the junction of the French and International Bunds and in the uniform of peace, will greet the great soldier under whom they fought in the uniform of war.

At 12:45 he will review the Shanghai Volunteer Corps on the Bund, after which he will attend a tiffin by the Shanghai Municipal Council.

Marshal Joffre sails for America on the "Siberia State" on Sunday.

IS MOVED BY RECEPTION

Evidence that the Marshal is genuinely moved and impressed by the welcome he has received in Shanghai is seen in his responses to the various toasts and speeches that have been made in his honor.

Those who attended the public reception for Marshal Joffre yesterday at the French Municipal buildings were:

Mr. A. Brooke-Smith, President du Shanghai Municipal Council; Mr. N. O. Liddell, Secretaire du Shanghai Municipal Council; Mr. C. H. Godfrey, Ingenieur en Chef du S. M. C.; Mr. K. J. In the British Supreme Court yesterday Mr. Newman, who appeared for Miss Emily Moore in the suit brought by Messrs. A settlement was likely, and an adjournment sine die was requested.

Judge Peter Grain in granting this adjournment said that it would be advisable to inform him when a settlement was reached so that an order would be made.

Many Improvements Are Now Being Made By Chinese Officials

It is stated that Mr. Hsu Chien-ching, Director of the Chapei Bureau of Taxes and Works, who assumed charge of his duties last winter is energetically carrying out a scheme of improvements in his district. The Paoshan Road which leads from the International Settlements has been re-metalled which improvement is much appreciated by the public. Plans are being carried out for the widening and overhaul of other busy roads as the Kung Ho Road, Ta Tung Road and the Heng Feng Road.

The Bureau intends to repair the bunding of the Soochow Creek on Kuang Hu Road, and construct a concrete bunding where it is required, and surveys are being made for the operation. On the Chung Hsing Road large drainage pipes are being laid down and the surface re-constructed. In addition sanitary and lighting improvements are being taken up in Chapei. It is estimated that these improvements will necessitate an outlay of many thousand taels and Mr. Hsu has held meetings with the Chapei residents and formulate plans for the issue of municipal debentures for a loan of several hundred thousand taels. Land in that district is being taken up and buildings are being pushed forward in many quarters. It is also stated that Mr. Chang Nieh-yun has been appointed Foreign Advisor to the Bureau.

'Bob' Cushman, Of Carlton, Goes To London Orchestra

Robert L. Cushman, who for the last two years has been saxaphonist of the Carlton orchestra, leaves today on the steamer Khiva for London, where he will join the famous Savoy Hotel orchestra.

Mr. Cushman, popularly known as "Bob," is by long odds the best saxaphonist that ever played in the East, and one of the best "jazz" musicians that ever got this far away from Broadway or Picadilly Circus. In fact, it has been said of Cushman that he is one of the four best jazz saxaphonists in the world, a verdict with which Shanghai dancers, certainly as expert and as critical as can be found anywhere, will readily agree. He certainly has been an important factor in contributing to the great success of the present Carlton orchestra, led by Frank Barron. He plays four saxaphones and has delighted thousands of Carlton visitors with his solo work. Shanghai has been lucky to have him for so long a period, and the Savoy is extremely fortunate to get him.

"Bob" is of congenial personality, entirely lacking in that "temperament" with which many musicians are afflicted, and has won a host of friends in Shanghai, all of whom will regret to see him leave, but who will wish him every possible success in his larger field.

Aside from the wider field for his great musical talent which London will offer him, "Bob" is eager to get there for another reason, namely, that he will find greater opportunity to indulge his favorite game of golf. As a golfer, "Bob" is a wonderful saxaphonist, but he figures that when he gets to London, with its scores of nearby courses, he will be able to improve his game.

Mr. Cushman wants his many Shanghai friends to know that if he ever sees any of them gliding over the Savoy's dancing floor after he gets there he will toot the old saxaphone as never before.

Before coming to Shanghai with the organisation that Mr. Barron brought out from San Francisco a couple of years ago Mr. Cushman played with famous dance orchestras in Los Angeles, New York, Chicago and San Francisco.

NEW TRAGEDIES OF SOVIET RULE ARE DIVULGED

Information Daily Leaking Out Of Former Murders By Bolsheviki

Paris, Feb 12.—Now that news is arriving from all parts of Russia through the intermediary of the American Relief Association's agents and other famine workers, all the capitals of Europe, and especially Paris, are daily receiving information proving the tragedy of the Bolshevist regime. The little Russian church in the Rue Daru has celebrated special masses for the victims of the revolution and those who have been slaughtered by the Reds during the last four years.

This week a colonel formerly of the Czar's Horse Guards received word from Moscow that his mother had been assassinated in a midnight attack by Lenine's agents more than a year ago. Immediately he notified friends in the Russian colony here by means of a card, which read:

"Col. —— wishes to inform you of the cruel loss he has suffered in the assassination of his mother, Anastasie in Petrograd, in October, 1920, by order of the hand of international brigands which took over the power in Russia in 1917 and which is known as the Government of the Soviets, as well as the loss by assassination of her faithful servant, Procope Savranine, the same day."

Such notices invariably fill the little Russian church to overflowing, the aged and bent Russian priests there performing the centuries old service while the congregation joins in the plaintive chants for the dead.

There is hardly an important family in the Russian colony here which has not lost some relative as a result of the Bolshevist plottings. Usually the information is received from Americans who have been asked to investigate murders in Russia or are the result of attempts to communicate with friends outside of Russia in order to obtain funds or food relief.

Lenine's censorship is so thorough that scores of well known anti-Reds are allowed to reach the frontiers of Russia, the Moscow authorities knowing they will carry letters which are to be mailed as soon as they reach Poland or Rumania, but when they are about to step across the border to safety they are arrested by Bolshevist agents, who confiscate all letters they carry. A few nights later a decree by the Cheka, or Extraordinary Commission, the authority from which there is no appeal, is read to the doomed authors of the appeals for mercy and they are put to death in the most brutal manner.

All such information is being preserved with the intention of its publication eventually, to prove the terrorist methods of the present rulers of Russia.

Hughes Tells Why U. S. Declined Bid To Genoa Parley

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, March 9.—Mr Hughes's note to the Italian Ambassador, Signor Ricci, with regard to the Genoa conference, emphasises that the United States keenly desires the economic rehabilitation of Europe, but regrets that it is impossible for America to be included in the proposed conference, which will not be primarily economic, since questions will apparently be excluded without a satisfactory determination of which, the chief causes of economic disturbance must continue to operate, but will rather be a political conference, in which the United States could not helpfully participate.

The United States Government, the note adds, is anxious to do its utmost to promote the welfare of Russia, but the restoration of economic conditions, which would permit Russia to regain her productive power, could not be secured until those who were chiefly responsible for Russia's present economic disorder had taken adequate action.

Pending the establishment of essential bases for the productivity of Russia, without which all consideration of economic revival was futile, nothing should be done with a view to obtaining economic advantages in Russia which would impair the just opportunities of others. The resources of Russia should be free from exploitation, and a fair and equal opportunity should be preserved, in the interest of Russia, by all Powers.

Rome, March 10.—The Cabinet, after a long discussion on the Fiume problem, was unanimously of the opinion that the question must be settled in conformity with International engagements and respect for signed treaties.

CHARGE ITALIAN IS CHAMP VIOLATOR OF TRAFFIC LAWS

When Mr. P. G. Calcina of 9 Kiukiang Road drove his motor car down the Bund on February 28 he committed about every sin in the decalogue of the sinners against the various traffic regulations of the Settlement and the code laid down by the Sikh and Chinese wielders of the big stick on point duty, according to the tale unfolded in the Italian Consular Court yesterday.

Mr. Calcina, according to the police, was traveling down the Bund at an excessive speed, he had no lights, he had a license issued for another car on his car (which is against the law) and therefore he had no license at all. About all he had was the car.

The Italian Court, taking due cognisance of the violations, relieved him of $5.

Limerick Outlook Gloomy, Report

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 9.—The correspondent of the London Daily Mail wires that the situation in Limerick is exceedingly perilous with the Republican extremists holding seven barracks which they declare they will not give up without a fight.

It is feared that attempts to dislodge them will be attended with heavy casulties.

Limerick, March 9.—A proclamation is posted extensively asserting that Minister of Defence Mulcahy "is alone responsible by a breach of trust" for the situation in Limerick. He solemnly guaranteed that the Republican army would be kept intact until the election, and he has not kept his word.

'UNT CLUB RACERS TO RUN THIS AFTERNOON IN ANNUAL MEETING AT CITY TRACK

Cradle Of Horsemanship For Local Turf To Rock Again Today

(BY JOHNNY WALKER)

This afternoon what is generally conceded to be the best sporting event in the Shanghai racing calender takes place, to wit, the annual race meeting of The Shanghai Paper Hunt Club, otherwise affectionately known among its members as The 'Unt Club.

No large stakes are needed to induce the young men to enter their ponies for this meeting. They do it for the sheer love of the game and get up and ride for themselves. There is no hanging around a crack jock begging him almost with tears to try your moke. No, you just put on your own colors and go out for glory.

Well has the Hunt Club been termed the cradle of Shanghai horsemanship, for many a sucking Chuck, or Billy Hill has had his first lesson in a paper hunt of how to fall off a China pony gracefully, how to loop the loop, and how to turn a somersault before hitting the water. It is a good school and has turned out many crack riders both on the flat and over the sticks.

Today, those who are not members of the Hunt or Race Clubs, can see these young fellows performing, and when you think of four steeplechases and all the thrills they can give you, you will not reflect twice before planking down your One Mex entrance fee. Probably you will make it two from sheer joy after you've seen the Beefstakes. Just think of it, little ponies of only 13 to 14 hands asked to go a three quarter mile sprint with a minimum of 180 lbs. up.

Some of these fat men cannot do 180 lbs. Fash for instance will weigh out near 200 lbs. Bertie Burkill's chest has also slipped since the close of the cross country season and unless he's been starving himself he will be over 180 lbs. Then there's Mr. Stitt! Now, won't it be worth quite a lot of money to see the Hongkong Bank doing the last quarter inside thirty seconds? Whether Mr. Rosenfeld will ride San Juan or not nobody knows at the moment, but if he does he will surprise everybody. The Jorrocks Cup will be the most popular of the steeplechases and at least a dozen are expected to start and all to finish with luck.

But the great event of the day is of course the Club Challenge Cup which among hunters is equivalent

POLICE AND CLUB "B" TO CLASH TODAY AT HONGKEW IN SCOTTOWE SEMI-FINAL

Soccer Battle On To Decide Which Eleven Shall Oppose School In Final

The Police and the Shanghai Football Club will struggle this afternoon for the right to meet the Public School eleven in the final for the Scottowe Challenge Cup, in a replay match commencing at 2:45 p.m. today at Hongkew Park.

The match is the only one of importance scheduled for the day. League play is blank on the schedule of fixtures. Other friendly matches are not of importance.

The Police after their win over the Club "A" eleven in the first round held the favor of the public in the second round which pitted them against the "B" eleven and even though they failed to beat the second string in the first try they still are held as favorites to win to the final for the right of competing against the Public School team.

The Police appear to have the edge in today's playoff with their clean win in the first round over the leaders of the first division, as compared with the performance of the Club "B" over the Customs. Football prophets predict that the final will be played off between the School and the Police.

The following players have been announced for the game:

Football Club B—Leach, Brow, Forshaw, MacMurray, DeMan, Ewing, Deer, W. C. G. Clifford, Koning, E. T. Nash, Dailey. Reserves—Loomis, Roach, Brodie.

Police—Isaacs, Quayle, Knight, McDonald, Crowley, Roung, Cornelle, Munson, Bailey, Clissold, Hotchkiss.

Referee—Mr. E. Marshall.

Hockey Title To Be Decided This Afternoon

The Portuguese team will meet the Harlequins in the final round of the knock-out hockey competition this afternoon at 3 p.m. sharp at the Hongkew Recreation Ground.

The following will represent the Portuguese: Messrs. C. M. Barradas, R. Robarts (Capt.), S. Collaco, A. M. Souza, S. M. Oliveira, F. M. Gutierrez, Alv. Leitao, V. O. Remedios, H. J. Encarnacao; A. F. Gomes and B. Pintes. Reserve: J. Ribeiro. Referees: Messrs. Fairburn and Forbes-Caie.

HUNT CLUB RACES THIS AFTERNOON

to the Champions. There are seven entries, all winners of hunts this season and each jockey must have been through two hunts to be qualified. This Cup has to be captured three times by the same pony to be won outright and since its inception in 1893 this has been done by four ponies, viz:

Mr. J. S. Fearons' Vaguero, 1895-7, ridden by Mr. H. H. Read; Mr. A. W. Burkills' Bonaventure, 1901-3, ridden by Mr. C. R. Burkill and Mr. Moller; Mr. C. R. Burkill's Chehalis, 1909-11, ridden by owner; Mr. E. S. H. Rowes' Bornite, 1914-16, ridden by owner.

The stewards have invited Marshal Joffre to present the trophy to the winner and with such a signal honor to be gained you may be quite sure the youth of Shanghai will ride its guts out and contest every inch of this gruelling phase.

The fifth race promises to give one's hilarity muscles some exercise, for it is a steeplechase for griffins and by way of preparation during the past week the young men o'mornings have been doing wild and woolley stunts all over the floor of the Recreation ground.

So there you are, five flat races and four steeplechases, almost at your own door or within easy distance of your home, in the most salubrious part of the town, every accommodation, and a fortune if you draw the winner in a cash sweep. Who would miss such an opportunity?

It is a pity this sporty meeting should clash with an extra meeting at Kiangwan. The rain and state of course prevented the Hunt Club from racing last Saturday and today is the only day available. The Hunt Club would not be justified at all in abandoning their one annual meeting, which it has run for over half a century, out of deference to Kiangwan and the only thing now to do is to run and hope that both courses may have a very successful time.

Harriers Will Hold Last Trial Today

The Shanghai Harriers' Club will hold a trial run over a course of about five miles in the Kiangwan district today. Time allowances will be made junior members and medium runners. This is the last trial run of the season. A sealed handicap will take place next week over a course of eight miles for the club championship. The start today is from the American School at 3 p.m.

Finance Ministry Names Ten Aides

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, March 7.—The following apointments by the Ministry of Finance are announced:

Mr. Chia Shih-yi to be Superintendent of Customs at Chinkiang, Mr. Tao Yuan to be Superintendent of Customs at Shanghai and Messrs. Shen Chun and Yeu Shiao-sho (of the Ministry of Finance) to be members of the Tariff Revision Commission to meet at Shanghai on March 15, while Messrs. Hsu Lin and Lu Ting and four others yet to be named are to form a Special Committee to deal with the values of goods.

New Dock To Pay 20 Percent Dividend

Balance Sheet Shows Tls. 621,463 Which Directors Deem Good Showing

Payment of a dividend of twenty percent on ordinary shares, totalling Taels 210,000 was recommended by Mr. C. H. Arnhold, chairman at the annual meeting of the New Engineering and Shipbuilding Works, Ltd., held at the Shanghai General Chamber of Commerce Rooms yesterday afternoon.

The profit and loss account showed a total of Taels 621,463.-24, which Mr. Arnhold recommended should be distributed as follows:

To pay a dividend of 20 percent on the Ordinary Shares ..	210,000.00
To pay the Preference Share dividend from March 24 to December 31st	93,041.09
To place to Materials Equalisation fund	250,000.00
To carry forward balance	68,422.15
	621,463.24

"This result," said Mr. Arnhold, "although falling short of the years 1919 and 1920, is, in the opinion of your directors, highly satisfactory in view of the general trade depression experienced throughout the whole world during the year 1921, which depression has been felt by engineering and shipbuilding concerns in common with most other trades."

HOLD OFF ICHANG PLAN

In discussing the balance sheet, Mr. Arnhold pointed out that there had been a considerable amount of capital expenditure, mostly representing the completion of the general development schemes outlined in previous years. It had been decided, in view of high costs at the present time, not to proceed for the present with the erection of subsidiary works at Ichang. The disturbances there during the past summer were also factors in bringing about this decision.

The company's plant had been maintained in a high state of efficiency, the cost therefore having been charged as customary against Working Account. In addition, the usual sum of Tls. 25,000.00 had been written off against Working Account and added to the Depreciation Fund. The Dock had been kept in excellent repair.

Stocks in hand and in transit were Taels 948,238.45. Although this figure was nearly Tls. 80,000.00 less than that appearing in last year's Balance Sheet, the quantity of stocks held had actually increased. The policy of carrying large stocks in view of the difficulty which had existed in obtaining material promptly had been fully justified and a considerable amount of work had been entrusted to the company because it had the necessary material on hand.

HEAVY FALL IN PRICES

"The year in hand," Mr. Arnhold said, "has seen a very heavy drop in the price of steel and shipbuilding materials generally, with the result that we in common with many large engineering and shipbuilding concerns at home find our stocks standing at a higher figure than today's replacing cost. If this state of affairs exists in England where building yards are next door to manufacturers of materials, you will, I feel sure, recognise how much more difficult it has been for us to control our estimated requirements, situated as we are so far from producing centers, or to foresee the big fall in prices which has taken place more particularly during the latter part of the year under review.

"This fact, together with the remarkable fluctuations in exchange, produced many startling variations in the landed cost of material in our yard, and to emphasise this position more clearly, it may perhaps interest you to know that steel arriving in Shanghai in the early part of last year cost us nearly three times, what it could be purchased for today.

"We have given a large amount of thought to our stock position and consider that it would be in the best interests of the company generally to face the present situation by writing down our stocks and by providing for the decline in prices below present book values. For this purpose, you will be asked to approve of the appropriation of the sum of Tls. 250,000 to be placed to Materials Equalisation Fund, which amount will be utilised for the adjustment of values of stock during the current year should there be no recovery in values."

SHARES ALL TAKEN UP

The reorganisation of the company's capital sanctioned by the shareholders in March of last year had been effected. The additional 60,000 shares offered at a premium of Tls. 5.00 were all take up in addition to the capitalisation of reserves by the issue of two preference shares to the holders of every one ordinary share. The issued capital of the company now stands at Tls. 2,550,000.00.

The company's reserves stand at Tls. 636,341.49. If to this is added the Dividend Equalisation fund of Tls. 300,000.00 and the Depreciation Fund of Tls. 624,276.68, the total is about sixty percent of the capital of the company after reorganisation.

During the year the company completed and delivered two ocean-going cargo steamers, three lighters, three pontoons, one tender for custom service, two steam launches and four motor launches. A shell draft vessel for the Upper Yangtsze built in England and sent out in sections was assembled, and another vessel of similar type was built and engined at the company's works and will be delivered in a few days. At the present time the works are engaged in construction of a river steamer of 3,000 tons for the Hankow trade, a new pilot vessel for the Shanghai Pilots Association, three steel lighters and other smaller craft.

GEN. WU PEI-FU MAKES WARLIKE PREPARATIONS

Laying Up Supplies Of Provisions And Materials At Loyang

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, March 9.—General Wu Pei-fu is now actively storing provisions and war materials in Loyang. Furthermore, he is mobilising a large force of the Chihli troops stationed in Hupeh in the direction of Loyang and Tingchow. General Wu Pei-fu is also making careful warlike preparations presumably against the Honan troops under the command of General Chao Heng-ti, Tuchun of Hunan.

According to Chinese political circles close to the Fengtien faction, if General Wu opens hostilities with Marshal Chang Tso-lin, the military force movable under his direct command is only a division and a half. This is strong enough to cope with the Hunan army, but not Chang's troops as the power of the Fengtien troops has become quite predominant.

It is further reported, however, that Marshal Chang is devising measures to put General Wu in an isolated position without resorting to actual military force. As for Marshal Tsao Kun, fearing that the hostilities between Marshal Chang and General Wu may result in unfavorable effect upon himself, he is taking steps to prevent the outbreak of hostilities, though it is not likely that he will take the side of Marshal Chang.

Famine Aid Opposed Only By Wealny In Britain, House Told

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 9.—There was considerable liveliness in the House of Commons today on the occasion of a number of questions being asked on the subject of the Russian famine.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain, in the course of a refusal to make a further Government grant for relief work, was greeted by Labor members with cries of "Shame", when he said it was impossible to overlook the fact that the Russian Government had resources which it was applying to less urgent matters.

There were Ministerial cries of "Shame" and Labor cheers when Lord Robert Cecil suggested that the opposition to the grant emanated solely from the richer classes.

Mr. Chamberlain based his refusals on the heavy burdens and the great distress of the British people and the likelihood that the League of Nations would shortly be asking for a further grant to combat the spread of typhus in Europe from Russia.

Ex-Minister Is To Be Disciplined For Trying To Aid Banque

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 9.—According to a telegram from Paris the Echo de Paris states that M. Poincare has informed M. Philippe Berthelot that he will be brought before a "Conseil de Discipline" for endeavoring, by independent action, when he was Secretary-General of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, to save the Banque Industrielle de Chine.

American Relief Ships At Petrograd

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, March 4.—Two American steamships with food supplies for Russia have arrived at Petrograd and are being unloaded. Another American steamer destined for Russia is in Norway, one in Hamburg, and twelve are in England.

Dr. Nansen made a report on the condition in the hunger-stricken regions of Soviet Russia before a big audience in the hall of the Stockholm University. He laid stress upon the necessity of inducing European Powers to extend urgent assistance to save the dying population.

According to railway statistics the following foreign famine relief goods were received from February 1 to 11, addressed to the All-Russian Central Executive Committee:

96 carloads of goods from the Society of Friends of Soviet Russia, 91 from the Quakers, 80 from the International Society in Aid of Children, 48 from the Dr. Nansen's organisation, and 21 from the Central Cross.

In all 455 carloads were received. During the period from February 1 to 20 some 218,000 poods (pood=36 lbs.) of foreign relief goods addressed to the American Relief Administration were registered by the railway.

Throngs At Funeral Of Negro Comedian

(China Press Service)

New York, March 9.—Even at his funeral, Bert Williams, the negro comedian played to "standing room only" for not only was the church packed to the doors, but 500 persons stood outside during the ceremony, unable to enter. Two thousand persons followed his coffin to the grave in a procession headed by a police squad and attended by many notables in the theatrical world.

Bert Williams, as the brains of the pair of the first real blackface comedians known as Williams and Walker, came into notice in the late nineties as a writer of songs which not only amassed him a fortune, but put him into the first ranks of comedians. Of late years he has been one of the stars of the "Follies."

Joffre—La Patrie

TOMORROW Papa Joffre goes to America on the most delicate, and yet most significant, mission of his career.

France and America have been bound together by the ties of liberalism. No greater service could be performed for la belle patrie than proving to a sister republic that French liberalism is as it was, and ever shall be.

For in winning the peace France has been charged with imperialism, the antipode to the republican spirit. And through lack of adequate press-agenting France has failed to combat that charge. Of this lack her enemies have made capital.

This is a time when France needs all her old friends. In the trying problems of readjustment she needs that active sympathy which rallied universally to her flag in 1914. Affections toward her have cooled somewhat, with the application of the peace terms. And that change she does not understand.

If the feeling were analysed in America it would resolve into a belief that France is becoming militaristic, than which nothing is more antipathetic to the American mind. It is not suggested that Americans have lost any of their instinctive affection for everything French. But it does mean that French post-war policies have encouraged the belief that France is changing. Proper spokesmen for France could combat this view. French leaders have merely struck attitudes of indignation, like M. Barraut at the Washington conference.

Is France militaristic, has she designs for the hegemony of Europe, for political domination of the string of "self-determination" states which fringe the east from the Baltic to the Adriatic? Does she want to prostrate Germany, and isolate Russia?

One answer to that belief came at the Washington conference, when M. Briand eloquently told France's need for self-protection until her enemies are disarmed. M. Briand pictured two Germanys, the one of Dr. Wirth who would pay as much as the country is able, and the other of Ludendorff, bitterly nursing hopes for a war of revenge. The ex-Premier touched a chord of deep feeling when he expressed the fear of moral isolation for France.

Secretary Hughes answered: "No words ever spoken by France have fallen upon deaf ears in America."

And then Mr. Hughes epitomised what all the Allies felt in the assembly: "May I say in response to a word which challenged us all as it was uttered by M. Briand, that there is no moral isolation for the defenders of liberty and justice? We understand the difficulties; what has been said will be read throughout this broad land by a people that desires to understand."

That, at least, was official sympathy for France's position.

He who believes France militaristic need but ask the French people to find the most arden pacifists of the world today. The villagers in the provinces, the bourgeoisie in the cities, or any after-dinner sipper of coffee on the Paris boulevards, would tell the stranger that French people hate war. Ask them why the large army, and they say: "M'sieur, la France ne que se defend!"

The devastated regions are still staring with the ugliness of war. The wounds are slow to heal. The refugees have returned, but their cattle and horses are gone, their stone houses in dust, and they live in wooden shacks put up by the government. What stock is returned them from Germany dies within a few weeks. . . . Ask them if France wants anything but to till her fields, and they will say war is an evil, a curse. They still shudder from the memories of 1870 and 1914, and they live in the daily fear that they won't enjoy the next meal. The psychology of constant fear of invasion makes their life. And even now when finishing a meal undisturbed they thank Providence, saying: "Voila un autre que les Prussiens n'auront pas!"

Or ask the soldiers, of whom few are now seen in Paris. From them we learn of the rejoicing in the ranks when the service was reduced from three years to two years after the Armistice, and that Briand promised to reduce it even to one year. Before the war three "classes" were constantly under arms, now there are two. Soon there will be but one. Whence then the charge of militarism?

No one who volunteered for France, and served in the Legion Etrangere, who tu-toyed through the war with the poilus, can believe France has suddenly turned militaristic. The Bloc National in the Chamber is charged with breathing a warlike aggression into the nation, but the very reduction of the army disproves that argument.

The chief cause of the militaristic reputation France has gained is her lack of proper spokesmen. The ugliest fact can be turned into something acceptable by timely explanation. This France has not done. Her attitude has accordingly been appraised by facts which look ugly to a republic.

The submarine tilt at the Washington comference is an example. France asked for unlimited submarines, threatening thereby to wreck the naval program. Public opinion in America went dead against the demand. France seemed unreasonable, and insulting remarks were hurled that France should pay her debts before building submarines.

It remained for the veteran publicist, Frank H. Simonds, to point out that Washington had become the stage for European politics, that the submarine demand was in reality an ultimatum to Britain to guarantee protection to France, or give France freedom of action. The sequel is the Anglo-French Security pact, now in the process of completion for signature. France never intended to build submarines. In fact she has built only five since the Armistice, while Britain and America have built more than forty each.

What France failed to make clear was that as the Four Power treaty was a necessary political prelude to the scrapping of capital ships, so security for France was the essential political prelude to wiping out her only effective weapon against Britain. With the Anglo-French alliance assured the submarine demand becomes a dead issue.

Unfortunately France was judged by appearances again, with the verdict against her.

This atmosphere of militarism may be but a mist. Friends of France, and those who lived in France, and learned to love the French people, know it is a mist.

If the personality of Papa Joffre can dispel that mist he will have served both his beloved patrie, and his second country, which is America. For it is believed that some such fear dictated the American refusal to attend at Genoa.

May he add this glory to his name by his mission of peace to America!

TRAM STATISTICS

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Dear Sir:—In the report of the Shanghai Tramways for last week, a falling off in the passenger traffic is shown since only 2,158,000 passengers were carried as against 2,372,000 for last year, yet the average receipts from each passenger was 2.8 cents this year as against 2.3 last year. That is doing less work and getting paid more for it.

At the same time the cars were not so crowded despite statements to the contrary on the part of strap hangers. The statistics show that the trams this year ran some 107,000 car miles, while last year they ran 98,800 so that the number of passengers per car mile this year was only 20 while last year 25 rode each mile the trams ran.

What is the answer? Your reader thinks it may be that the first class is receiving more patronage on the part of the Chinese thus raising the revenues and lowering the discomfort for the third class rider. Very truly yours,

STRAP HANGER

BRITISH OR PORTUGUESE?

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Sir:—Under the heading "Portuguese in Shanghai plan an organisation" you published today an article in which you state that a group of leading members of our local community (they may be leading or they may be not, I am in doubt) launched the plan to form an organisation along the lines of the British China Association and American Association.

I am not going to deal with the merits of the gentlemen of the group, the question is: if they are leading members of the Portuguese Community the Circular signed by them is certainly misleading.

You quoted from the Circular "We are sorely in need of such a representative body to foster and defend our interest and to make representations to the Home Government as occasion arises on all matters concerning our rights and general customs in the Far East."

Now, it happens that some of the signers of this circular are British subjects. Consequently, they have no right whatsoever to make any representation to the Home Government (Portugal) with a view to defending our interests and our rights. Any such representation would be false, especially if made in a language not our own, as the one used in the announcement referred to by you, and the good Portuguese citizens living in this Settlement will not have our Government bluffed by members of any other nationality without a strong protest. And this is the one from, Yours etc.,

On Making Sure

There is nothing like making sure where one's health is concerned. Good health is the best guarantee that Life shall be a success. Now it is well-known that digestive disorders are the cause of more cases of ill-health than any other class of ailment. The digestive system is so extensive, so complex and so hard-worked, that its liability to derangement is not astonishing. Happily, however, many digestive ailments can be easily remedied. Happily, too, many digestions need never go wrong. You can make reasonably sure that your digestion will not fail you, even under trying conditions, if you get into the excellent way of taking Beecham's Pills. This "Wonderful Medicine"—as it has been called—does really work wonders with the digestive system. Beecham's Pills impart tone to the stomach, regulate the action of the liver and kidneys and gently stimulate the bowels into healthy activity. Get into the habit of making sure. Have recourse to Beecham's Pills at the first sign of digestive trouble. Make sure of your health by taking

Poindexter's Treaty Paean

League Of Nations Irreconcilable Sees Only Good In Four-Power Agreement

BY MILES POINDEXTER
U. S. Senator from Washington

One distinguishing feature of the Peace Conference has been its practical character. It opened with a statement from Mr. Hughes, bringing the chief subject matter for which the conference was called, namely, the limitation of naval armament, down to a very concrete and specific basis. In this respect it had the advantage of other world conferences which undertook the vague and rather impossible task of setting up an entire "new order" for the government of the world.

In accordance with this spirit, it very sensibly produced and will submit for ratification to the Senate several distinct propositions in separate instruments, avoiding thereby the danger of having its entire work defeated by objections to parts of it. There is no doubt, for instance, that the Versailles Peace Conference could have secured the ratification by the United States very promptly of a peace treaty setting the war in Europe and defining the status of the several belligerents if it had not been coupled up, in fact, as it was boasted, inextricably interwoven with a universal scheme for the permanent future government of the whole world. This led to the defeat of the entire treaty, and resulted in the grievous injury of prolonging and delaying the settlement of peace.

The so-called Four-Power Treaty, which relates only to the island possessions and the island dominions of the four nations, while it does not touch upon various other important subjects dealt with by the conference, has the advantage of not being involved in the antagonisms and complications of some of the other questions, and consequently stands a most excellent chance of being ratified. It is in itself a most excellent achievement, and if nothing else were produced by the conference would justify the trouble and expense of this international gathering. I will not undertake here to discuss comprehensively the nature of this treaty, but I may say that the objection to it that it is an offensive and defensive alliance requiring the several nations to protect and defend each other is entirely unfounded. This is perfectly obvious from a mere reading of the language of the treaty itself. The substance of it is that the several parties to the treaty agree by this writing to respect each other's rights in their island possessions and island dominions, and in case of aggression against such rights that they will confer together as to some means of peaceable adjustment of the controvery.

In view of the overlapping and mutual interests of these several powers in the area of the Pacific, both in trade and in politics interrelations, a wise and prudent conduct of their affairs in justice to each other and of each to its own people would require them, even if there were no formal agreement to that effect, to pursue just this course. As I have stated in the Senate, consequently, it imposes no new or extraodinary obligations, either legal nor moral, and it does not establish any new agencies of government whatever. However much dispute there may be about treaty I do not believe that these statements can be successfully controverted. In these respects (and these are the fundamental questions) it is not only not the same or similar to the proposed League of Nations but is, in principle and in fact, so far as these elements are concerned, the exact antithesis of the League of Nations.

The League of Nations not only established new agencies of government, but really set up a formal new constitution of government of the most ambitious character ever proposed in history. The instrument creating these new agencies was first called and denominated a "constitution," and properly so, and it remained so notwithstanding the subsequent change of name to a "covenant." It created a very elaborate machinery of world government, having the fundamental vice of autocracy of consolidating all powers in the same agency, in that respect the opposite of the Federal Constitution of our own Government, which carefully separates as independent from each other legislative, executive and judicial functions.

The Four-Power Treaty creates no such super-government nor any super-government at all, and imposes no such extraconstitutional or unreasonable obligations upon this nation.

The benefit of it is that it puts in permanent and durable form, in writing, the formal expression of the intention, thereby imposing both a legal and a moral obligation, which each of the parties of the treaty can call upon the others to perform, of that humane and just course of conduct which in humanity and justice we are already obligated to pursue.

There will be other great accomplishments of the conference. It has not fallen into the unreasoning pacifist and Socialist error of depriving the several nations of the power to protect the interests of their people either from the violation of the agreements entered into at the conference or from aggression from any other source. But the forthcoming agreement for the limitation of naval armaments and the elimination of competition in naval construction, if lived up to, as it undoubtedly will be, will prevent the perfectly unnecessary and unreasonable increase of these armaments, with consequent taxation and expense, but at the same time will leave the several powers, both absolutely and relatively, fully prepared to defend and secure such lawful and wise policies of government and such just rights and interests as they may adopt or possess. In this respect it carries out the distinguishing characteristic which I mentioned in the beginning, of being a practicable undertaking, based upon the known conditions of the world, and making due account of all the imperfections and weaknesses and vice of human nature, which are entirely ignored in the plan of the idealists, to trust our vital interests and our national existence itself to the wholly illusory universal good-will of the world.

It is easy to point out omissions of the conference and to demonstrate that it has failed to solve problems which concern the welfare and the peace of the nations bordering on the Pacific. It leaves, for instance, or apparently will leave, the status of Japan in China proper, in Manchuria, in Shantung, even in Siberia, and the relative status there of the other parties to this conference, undetermined. It consequently leaves open and unsettled many causes and sources of controversy and hostile conflict. It may be said that its omission to completely re-establish China in the absolute control of its own affairs as an independent nation demonstrates the folly of those who would trust the interests of our nation to the good-will of the world, and would deprive us of the means of self-protection.

But the fact that the conference has not accomplished every good that might be conceived of as possible for it affords no reason whatever for rejecting the excellent things making toward peace and harmony of nations which it has achieved.

Arch-Anarchist's Confession

Digging in the musty archives of the notorious Okhrana (the Third Section of the Political Police of the old Russian regime), Bolshevist research workers recently came across a document calculated to cause many heartaches among the disciples of anarchism—throughout the world, especially among those to whom Russian Nihilism is the classic example of "propaganda by the deed." This document, which is summarised by Victor Serge, a communist publicist, in the Paris Bulletin Communiste of Nov. 22 last, purports to show that Mikhail Alexandrovich Bakunin, the beau ideal of anarchist terrorists and the uncompromising champion of direct action as opposed to parliamentarism in the struggle of the proletariat against the various Governments, actually wrote a sixty-four page letter to Czar Nicholas I., in which he acknowledged the error of his doctrines and begged to be released from prison.

The letter was written at the suggestion of the Czar himself, who had proposed, through Count Orloff, that Bakunin, then in the fortress of Schluesselburg, should write to Nicholas I "as a spiritual son to his spiritual father": but because Bakunin, after having renounced his revolutionary faith, wrote, "Do not ask me to confess to you the sins of others. In my shipwreck I have saved one thing only—the honor and the consciousness of not having betrayed a single person," his humiliation was in vain, as the Czar noted on the margin of the letter, "This destroys all confidence," and Bakunin was exiled to Siberia, from which he escaped to Japan in 1861, five years after the death of Nicholas I.

In beginning his letter, Bakunin wrote: "I confess to you as the spiritual father from whom one may expect forgiveness, not in this world but in the other." In speaking of his revolutionary activities Bakunin characterised them as fantastic schemes, as hopes without any real foundation and as criminal projects. He declared that he had not been sinning consciously except from 1848. It was in 1847-48 that Bakunin took an active part in the popular uprisings in France, Saxony, Austria and Russia. Evidently unmanned by the prospect of spending the rest of his life in prison, Bakunin said: "I have been the deceived and the deceiver at one and the same time. I have deceived others and I have deceived myself. I have placed myself in an unnatural, inconceivable position which has obliged me at times to be merely a charlatan, in spite of myself. There was always a great deal of Don Quixotism in me."

In another place the protagonist of international revolution wrote like a genuine Pan-Russian, spoke of Western Europe as "living upon lies," voiced his disgust with the Germans, declared that "none of the social theories current in England, France and Belgium could stand the tests of three days' practice," and averred that only the Slav peoples had remained sane, in contrast with the degenerate nations of Western Europe. Then, after having painted a glowing picture of a greater Russian Empire, with Constantinople as its capital, to be realised by an intelligent exercise of the Czar's autocratic powers, Bakunin concluded:

"Do not let me die in prison. One lives, lives long in spite of himself, feeling every hour the distress and tedium of slow death. Having lost the right to qualify myself the faithful subject of your Imperial Majesty, I sign myself, with a sincere heart, the repentant sinner, Mikhail Bakunin."

Bakumin died in Berne in 1876, aged 62 years. His preaching of anti-parliamentarism had much to do with the wrecking of the first Labor International, founded by Karl Marx and other Western European agitators in 1864 and dissolved in 1876.

The Week's Market Report

In their weekly report on the Shanghai Piece-Goods Trade, Messrs. Noel, Murray and Company write as follows:

Japanese Yarn.—At the termination of the period of the restricted output by the mills in Japan certain of the larger concerns maintained a discretional system of curtailment of work by which 4 days of rest a month were observed. January's output of yarn was nearly 10,000 bales less than December's but of course the new year holidays are numerous and it does not appear whether these were kept in addition to the four days of self-imposed rest.

Home Markets.—The Manchester market is quiet and there is still a wide margin between it and ours, so that little, if any, buying by China is possible without a probable loss having to be faced. In the same way, our prices do not meet with those ruling in America.

Local Market.—A very dull fortnight has been experienced by everybody, as far as we can ascertain. The buying power of so many men has been curtailed by the losses recently contracted by gambling on the Exchanges, and this is now showing itself very clearly in business circles according to a dealer with whom we were talking this morning. The great shipping strike in Hongkong was settled last Saturday but it will take time to get everything into running order again. The political sky, however, is still overcast and it is on this account unquestionably, that business is so dull and that the Chinese merchants are lacking confidence. Hankow reported on 1st inst. that there was a fair enquiry for stock piece goods, but no change in prices except for greys, which were stronger, and clearances were good.

Auctions.—The total number of pieces offered was 46,817 Grey Shirtings weakened, especially today, when there were some falls of from two to five mace. The majority of the White Shirtings showed an improvement of a few candareens. Irishes, Bleached T-Cloths, and Jeans fell. Turkey Reds were very irregular. Prices for Velvets were fairly well maintained seeing that the season for these is about over. Italians and Venetians were in and out with a tendency to weaken.

ROSENFELD AND SON

Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son write as follows in their weekly cotton market report.

China Cotton.—The market during the past week has been rather quiet and prices moved within a comparatively narrow range, with the net result of a moderate decline from last week's level. The readjustment of values has tended to equalise sentiment and has fostered a less aggressive attitude on both sides of the market and greater inclination to await developments.

One of the commanding factors of the situation is the question whether the supply will become available for spinning purposes as rapidly as required, or whether the interior holders will succeed in creating an artifical scarcity by holding back their cotton. Their method of marketing the crop slowly has proved very remunerative to them, and financially they are so well situated that it is most unlikely that they will deviate in the future from their policy of slow marketing.

Under the present circumstances, it seems to us that the only course for the immediate future is to buy cotton on any slight reaction as we believe the near future will witness a very considerable revival of speculation. As the market advances it will be necessary to watch for signs of selling out on the part of the leaders, but we hardly think this will take place until a considerable higher level has been reached.

Yarn.—We have no material change to report in our market. Stocks in the interior are bare and mills well sold ahead. We still adhere to our opinion that no radical decline will be felt locally.

SPUNT AND COMPANY

In their report on the cotton market, Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows:

China Cotton:—Our market during the past week may be said to have been on the whole an uneventful one in that very little actual business is discernable, as if some subtle influence had brought about a concerted action on the part of the mills, in general, to take in supplies on as small a scale as possible, thereby preventing to any appreciable extent an upward movement although evolving at the close a steadiness in prices bordering on firmness.

Holders of whatever stocks are still available of the local staple remain firm, being encouraged in their attitude by the prevailing low silver exchange, the brighter prospects in the yarn market and the distant period before any idea can be formed of the dimensions of the new season crop, all of which factors may be reasonably assumed as indicating in the near future if not to higher levels at least to no appreciable retrogressiveness. Tone of the market, Steady.

FILET LACE

In their report on the lace market, the Industrial Export (China) Company write as follows:

The market has advanced further since our last report, and first quality Filet Laces cannot be bought for less than 1.3 per mesh. Stocks of good laces are very low, and a further advance is expected. Small quantities of Irish Crochet Laces have also been bought, and prices are firm with heading at 10½ cents, 2 Bean at 60 cents and 4 Bean at 75 cents.

PONGEE SILK

The China Merchants Pongee Association write as follows in their report on the Chefoo pongee silk market:

Our Chefoo head-office under date of March 4 reports that:

The lower export prices, which were due to the recent drop in the rates of exchange, has encouraged the buyers to wait, and hence the inactivity of our market during the week.

Few enquiries have been received from Europe, America and Australia, which have resulted to very small orders.

No further declines are anticipated on account of the very high cost of raw silk and the limited stocks.

HAIRNET

In their report on the hairnet market of Chefoo, Messrs. Tatoulis Bros (China) write as follows:

Our Chefoo head-office under date of March 4 reports as follows:

Double Cap-Nets (10-38), which went up to $6.70 last week, has dropped down to $6.00, on account of the American buyers having stopped operating. The Single Nets are quiet but steady, with small stocks and limited supplies. Stocks of Double Nets are also very small, but supplies seem to be regular.

SUPER-DURABLE FLAT PAINT
FLAT WALL FINISH

A perfect Paint of smooth surface for Interior Wall Coating

The surface obtainable with this paint is smooth and flat, i.e., it is not a grainy, dead, lifeless finish, but of a velvety texture. It dries in a reasonably quick time, so that work can be carried out effectively, yet has the property of remaining open long enough to enable the worker to cover a large surface of wall without making laps or edges.

Excellent results with Super Durable Flat Finish are easily obtained, irrespective of the skill of the user, and an elaborate preparation of the surface is usually quite unnecessary.

Super Durable Flat Finish has been tried on non-absorbent surfaces of all kinds and where distemper and oil paint have proved prone to shell or flake off, it has always adhered. It gives a lasting finish of surprising beauty.

1 Imperial Gallon covers about 130 square yards one coat.

Offensive The Main Thing In War Game Reserves Are Taught

(China Press Service)

Washington, March 9.—In a circular issued by the War Department, the importance of attack over defensive measures is set at 2 to 1. This circular is intended as a guide to officers instructing reserves and suggests that half of the time should be given to aggressive measures, leaving one-forth for defensive and the remainder for teaching methods of observation and security.

The circular states that strategic and tactical defense is only a temporary measure at best and bold aggressive methods must be taught as the basis of the true art of warfare to the reserves of the United States.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

March 10, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each up ⅜d. in London yesterday. The New York price advanced to 64¼ cents, and the London-New York cross rate declined to 436¼.

The only change in the official quotations here today was a drop in the Gold Dollar rate to 69. The market today was very much along yesterday's lines, opening steady and becoming firm during the course of the day.

At the opening speculators bought a small amount of Sterling at 3-2⅝ for April and May; also Gold Dollars at 70¾ for March April.

Later in the day, however, business in Sterling was done at rates varying between 3-3¼ and 3-3⅜ for March 3-3¼ for April and 3-3 for May and June. Gold Dollars were done at 71¼ for March and 71 for April. The market closed firm at this level.

Owing to the holiday tomorrow, banks were disinclined to operate on a large scale and the market was thus easily influenced by speculative operations. India and China both bought silver in London yesterday, and the market there is reported as being steady. New York now report their market as being firm.
